The Search for Captain Roy Brown, DSC

Known for his aerial battle that ended the life of the 'Red Baron', Roy Brown was a pioneering aviator after the war and was only inducted into Canada's Aviation Hall of Fame in 2015 after efforts to locate his remains and restore his legacy were undertaken by a 10 year old girl in Ontario.

John Chalmers, M.Ed., is the national membership secretary for the CAHS, official historian for the Aviation Hall of Fame and author of Navigator Brothers, the story of his father and uncle in WWII.
